Artesian pasta straws from
HELIOS Pasta Industry, are qualified for the Clean Label
Project™ Purity Award.

HELIOS Pasta Industry, is the first pasta industry internationally and the first Greek brand, whose selected products qualified for the Clean Label Project™ Purity Award for their purity from chemicals including heavy metals, pesticide residues and chemical plasticizers by the Clean Label Project™ organization.

The Clean Label Project™ Purity Award is a distinction as a result of product tests and evaluation for 400 substances and ingredients that are never listed on a nutrition label. These substances include a number of chemicals dangerous to humans and the environment.

HELIOS is the first pasta industry worldwide and the first company in Greece to have received a Purity Award.

Biodegradable pasta straws

According to recent studies, in the near future, the volume of plastic in the world's oceans will surpass the number of fish. Plastic straws contribute to a great extent to the ocean pollution. HELIOS Pasta Industry demonstrating a high sense of responsibility and fostering sustainable practices for the protection of the environment, presents its novel, unique and innovative artesian pasta straws made from semolina.

Artesian pasta straws come in a practical packaging which recloses, and they are an eco-conscious solution for our planet to be clean and healthy.
